ADDITIONAL COMMENTS

How did you hear about Cornerstone Christian Academy?

The mission of Cornerstone Christian Academy is to equip students with skills for life and faith for eternity.

Cornerstone Christian Academy endeavors to provide high quality education from the Christian perspective. CCA's employees are expected to establish a climate for Christian nurturing while serving as role models for the youth they serve. The following qualities are strongly desirable in candidates for positions at CCA. Of paramount importance are the employee's personal Christian commitment, professional readiness, and desire for involvement in school activities.

Demonstration of strong spiritual commitment.

Those who teach at CCA must be ready to commit to regular attendance to church services and activities of a Christian congregation. They are required to place membership at a specific congregation.

Acceptance of the challenge of ministry.

In concert with the spiritual commitment, it is important that CCA employees see their work as a way of life. CCA faculty members should be capable of modeling Christian adulthood, whether married with children or as a single individual. If married, the support of family members in the desire to teach in a Christian school is also important. The Christian school setting is a unique opportunity to make a difference in the lives of people.

Strong academic qualifications.

CCA seeks candidates who have taken their professional training seriously, being reflected in their academic transcript. Additionally, preference is given to prospects with a variety of successful experiences in school related activities that complement their academic standing.

Strong command of Standard English, written and spoken – ability to articulate ideas and thoughts well.

The teaching staff represents CCA to many people. It is critical that their own grammar, syntax, and pronunciation set a high standard of correctness. It is also critical that they be able to articulate clearly to students in the teaching process.

Interest in both advanced and struggling students.

The CCA student body generally performs well academically and needs extra challenges. There are, however, always students who have weaknesses that negatively impact their ability to grasp specific subject matter. Sometimes, it may be extrinsic factors, or it may be an inherent lack of ability. In any case, CCA seeks caring professionals who are willing to invest time and energy to determine teaching methods that will serve those students. Whether the need is supplemental projects for the advanced or remediation activities for the struggling student, CCA faculty members are expected to meet the challenges.

Ability to manage student behavior.

The teachers and staff members of CCA should build the kind of rapport with young people that earns their cooperation and respect. Students generally cooperate with and respect teachers who are competent and use mature judgment. Teachers are mentors to students. The mentoring teacher is not afraid to exercise authority and can do so without alienating the student.

Willingness to participate in activities and special projects.

The Board of Trustees and the Administration of CCA are committed to developing excellence throughout the school. To use the name "Christian" to describe a school environment is making an important statement to the secular world. The Christian work ethic will ultimately produce a school noted for its commitment to the improvement of the individual student through experiences in spiritual, academic and student activities. Employees will be asked to participate in and contribute to many activities and projects such as sponsorship of student clubs and organization, academic meets, school related programs and special events, etc.
